Story goes that the real Earl Grey (British Prime Minister in the 1830s) received black tea flavoured with bergamot oil from a Chinese envoy. And we've been enjoying the tea's unique and subtle citrus flavour ever since.

THE PINOT NOIR GRAPE

Translating as ‘pine black’ because its bunches look like pine cones, the pinot noir grape is a thin-skinned native of burgundy with flavours of cherry, raspberry and strawberry and you can’t make a proper coq au vin without it!

This Glasgow distillery (pronounced 'ock-un-tosh-un') dates back to 1825. Their whisky is distilled three times, not twice like most Scottish malts, which makes it super smooth and light but deliciously intense.
